The editorial board invites submission of scholarly articles and original documents in a wide variety of fields such as black, cultural, economic, ethnic, labor, military, political, religious, social, and urban history. The journal accepts articles which have their geographical setting in various localities of the Commonwealth or the Middle Atlantic region if Pennsylvania is involved. Articles are selected for their appeal to both the specialist in the field and the general reader. The editor does not assume responsibility for statements of fact or opinion made by contributors.

Contributions should be sent to the following individuals: articles and documents to the editor, Dr. H. Benjamin Powell, Department of History, Bloomsburg State College, Bloomsburg, Pa. 17815; news concerning meetings, recent publications, projects, manuscript collections, personal notices, and other information to the news editor, Harry E. Whipkey, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, Box 1026, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120; books for review and reviews to the book review editor, Dr. Michael P. Weber, Department of History, Carnegie-Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15213.

The Pennsylvania Historical Association, in cooperation with local and regional historical societies and agencies, seeks to advance the study of Pennsylvania's heritage. It is the only statewide historical society now active in the Commonwealth. By its annual meetings held successively in different parts of the state, its publication of the quarterly journal, Pennsylvania History, and a series of pamphlets, Pennsylvania History Studies, and its cosponsorship of an annual research conference in Pennsylvania history and the Institute on Pennsylvania Life and Culture, the association endeavors to stimulate scholarly activity and arouse popular interest in the state's history.

Pennsylvania History is published in January, April, July, and October, by the Pennsylvania Historical Association, 806 New Liberal Arts Building, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa. 16802. The articles are listed in the American Historical Review and The Journal of American History and are abstracted in America: History and Life. Articles in religious history are abstracted in Theological and Religious Index. The journal is printed by the Times and News Publishing Company, Gettysburg, Pa. 17325. Second class postage is paid at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and at additional mailing offices.

Annual dues to the Pennsylvania Historical Association are $8.00 for individuals and $10.00 for institutions. The journal is sent to all members of the association. Single numbers can be purchased for $3.00. Most issues are available back to 1957. Make checks out to the Pennsylvania Historical Association. Communications regarding memberships, subscriptions, and general business of the association should be sent to the business secretary, Dr. Phillip E. Stebbins, Department of History, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa. 16802.

Pennsylvania History announces the establishment of a page devoted to those eccentric items of history which never seem to fit into one's research paper but which are too good to be lost and forgotten. Items submitted for use in this section should adhere to the following criteria:

1. The length should be a maximum of 350 words.
2. Materials should be from original sources except under unusual circumstances. Manuscript items are particularly desired.
3. Normal citation format should be followed.
4. Items should be humorous or should reflect some unknown facet of the character or temperament of some well-known historical figure.
5. Items should be related to Pennsylvania history.
