

ESTABLISHING PARTNERSHIPS: INDUSTRY, GOVERNMENT, ACADEMIA

Moderator: Margie Kintz
Executive Director, Intel Foundation
Corporate Contributions Manager,
Intel Corporation

Margie Kintz joined Intel Corporation as Manager of Academic Relations in 1986. In 1988, she became Manager of Corporate Contributions and Executive Director of the Intel Foundation, a non-profit corporation, established to fund Intel's charitable programs. Previously, she served for five years as Director of Development for Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. While at Trinity, Margie had the opportunity to participate in the University's $50 million major gifts campaign which was successfully completed in 1984. From 1977-81, she was the Director of Annual Giving and Alumni Relations at Saint Edward's University in Austin, Texas. During her tenure at Saint Edward's, the University received the U.S. Steel Award for the most improved alumni giving program in the country.

Presenters: "WISEMCO - Women in Science, Engineering, Mathematics Consortium of Ohio"
Lynn E. Elfner
Executive Officer
The Ohio Academy of Science

*"Expanding the Pool of Women in Engineering
Through Community College/University
Articulation"*
Dr. Paul C. Parker
Bureau Chief for Programs
Florida State Board of Community Colleges

"Industrial-Academic Partnerships at Westinghouse"
Dr. Susan Wood
Manager, Systems & Technology Operations
Westinghouse Electric Corporation

