

NEW RESEARCH FINDINGS TO SUPPORT AND DIRECT WOMEN IN ENGINEERING PROGRAMS

Moderator: Myrna Whigham, Ph.D.
Field Services Coordinator
College of Education
Iowa State University

Dr. Myrna Whigham is Coordinator of Field Experiences in the College of Education at Iowa State University. Her responsibilities include coordinating field experiences, orientation programs and teacher workshops for the College. Dr. Whigham's teaching experience spans twenty six years and includes two high schools and two major universities. She is recognized in the state of Iowa for her work in math and science education for women and minorities.

Presenters: Academic Climate, Intervention and Institutional Change: Women in Science, Mathematics and Engineering

Carol Hollenshead
Director
Center for the Education of Women
University of Michigan

Investing in the Future? The Role of Higher Education in Increasing Diversity in Science and Engineering

Marsha Lakes Matyas, Ph.D.
Project Director
AAAS

Beyond Anecdote: Research on Women in Engineering

Barbara Lazarus, Ph.D.
Associate Provost
Carnegie Mellon University

