

DIMENSIONS OF DIVERSITY IN ENGINEERING EDUCATION

Moderator: Betty M. Vetter
Executive Director
Commission on Professionals in Science and Technology

Since 1963, Betty M. Vetter has been the Executive Director of the Commission on Professionals in Science and Technology (formerly the Scientific Manpower Commission), in Washington D.C. She holds degrees from the University of Colorado, (BA); Stanford University, (MA); and Illinois Wesleyan University (LLD - Hon). She is editor of the periodical, Scientific, Engineering, Technical MANPOWER COMMENTS; author of more than 150 published reports, book chapters and articles on some phase of production and/or utilization of scientists and engineers; and a frequent speaker on some aspect of these subjects.

Presenters: Gretchen Kolonji, Ph.D.
Professor
Materials Science and Engineering
University of Washington

Indira Nair, Ph.D.
Associate Department Head
Engineering and Public Policy
Carnegie Mellon University

