

ADDRESSING SOCIAL, POLITICAL, AND ECONOMIC CHANGE THROUGH CURRICULUM INNOVATION

Moderator

Edward N. Prather, Ph.D.
Assistant Dean, College of Engineering
University of Cincinnati

Dr. Edward N. Prather is presently an Assistant Dean in the College of Engineering at the University of Cincinnati. His primary function is management of the Emerging Ethnic Engineers Program. His responsibilities include: recruitment and graduation of African American, Latino/a, and American Indian engineering students on both the undergraduate and graduate levels; development and implementation of pre-college programs; fund raising; proposal writing; and advisement of the college's National Society of Black Engineers student organization.

Dr. Prather has been a member of numerous professional organizations and has served as Vice President and President of the New Jersey Chapter of the Association for Equality and Excellence in Education. He has served on the Board of the National Association of Minority Engineering Program Administrators, (NAMEPA), and in 1994 chaired NAMEPA's Region "C" which comprises a nine state area.

Presenters

Linda M. Head, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor
National Institute of Standards and Technology

Rose Mary Seymour, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor, Bio-Resource Engineering Department
University of Maine

