

OPENING PLENARY: PERSPECTIVES FROM EXECUTIVE WOMEN ON OUR FUTURE

Moderator and Panelist

Constance Rice, Ph.D.
Senior Vice Chancellor
Seattle Community Colleges

Dr. Constance W. Rice is a graduate of Queens College in Flushing, New York, where her major areas of study were Anthropology and Sociology. She earned her master's degree in Public Administration and her doctor of philosophy degree in Higher Education Administration from the University of Washington. Most recently, Dr. Rice served as President of North Seattle Community College, and is now Senior Vice Chancellor for the four-campus Seattle Community College District.

Panelists

Sally Jewell
Executive Vice President, Planning and Administration, Commercial Banking Group
Washington Mutual, Incorporated

Sally Jewell is Executive Vice President of Washington Mutual Bank, and President and CEO of its Western Bank Division. Prior to joining Washington Mutual, she spent fourteen years with Rainier Bank, Security Pacific Bank, and West One Bank, in the areas of energy banking, national accounts, credit administration, head of business banking activities in Washington, and finally as president and chief executive officer of West One Bank, Washington.

Deborah Willingham
Vice President, Enterprise Customers
Microsoft Corporation

As Vice President, Enterprise Customers, Deborah Willingham is responsible for worldwide strategy for selling, marketing, and supporting Microsoft's products and services to large organizations. The Enterprise Customer Unit directs large account, reseller, and systems integrator sales and systems engineering personnel, as well as Microsoft's consulting and enterprise technical support resources. She also has line management responsibility for North American technical support delivery to the enterprise, including Premier and Business Systems products support.

