

ROY A. HUNT, JR.

A MEMORIAL

Roy A. Hunt, Jr., died on July 8, 1981. Mr. Hunt was descended from noted Pittsburgh families, both through his father and through his mother. His grandfather, Alfred E. Hunt, was one of the founders of the Pittsburgh Reduction Company, later Aluminum Company of America. His father, Roy Hunt, Sr., was president of Alcoa from 1928 to 1951. One of his mother's family names was McMasters, memorialized in McMasters Way in downtown Pittsburgh.

Mr. Hunt had been a member of the Society for many years and a trustee since 1970. At the time of his death, he was a member of the Accessions Committee and the Audit, Finance, Investment and Budget Committee. In spite of failing health, he attended trustees' meetings even in the foulest weather. He was instrumental in helping the Society during the last decade in many areas, primarily finances, administration, acquisitions, and public relations. He will be greatly missed by all of us.
